

A chilly evening but the Bald Eagles soon warmed up at the Eagles Nest. Nine non bibs (nb's) versing nine bibs on the full-size oval. Nobody knows why, but it made for a wide-open game. Brent umpired whilst still recovering from a calf strain. Collin back from injury. A few outs for reason's unknown. All injuries, including wood splinters, seem insignificant after Cathy played on with a badly broken arm.

Fitzy kicked two and tweaked the hammy again. One of the goals was after a great team move. Only fast players tweak hamstrings I've been told. He'll use beers instead of physios to come back fit in a fortnight. Toby was outstanding all evening and must have kicked four. Match reporter fluffed his lines kicking a behind from in front of the posts, that tall right upright was still rattling at Tuesday training! Dan kicked at least one goal Will was sensational in the front pocket. Urged on by the President 'you've gotta run, Will' he'd get the ball, arch his back to avoid a clutching defender and kick somewhere.

Steve Wall kicked a great goal, then followed up with another. It looked like he was doing the splits as he rushed it over for six points. Glenn's goal was remarkable. I'm not sure what he was doing behind the post but he appeared from there to gather the ball unmarked and score and celebrate happily!

Marc got the goal of the day from miles out. Great strike! Ali was right in amongst the action. Easily winning a ball up against the match reporter. He recognised the look she gave him before the ball was thrown up. Quite frankly it was a bit scary! Clare and Danielle also got some ball, sometimes when they weren't keen on having it, but still disposing well.

Jamie kicked a great goal and almost followed with a better one, but the second hit the post from way out. He didn't think it would make it that far, but it did.

Rich kicked two or three. At least one of them looked painful and he pulled up a bit sore.

Neil may not have scored this weekend, but he did some excellent work in defence and around the midfield.

Steve Wall failed to complete the match. He cramped up after receiving a hospital ball from the match reporter. He didn't blame me though, and hopefully it's all forgotten before Monday's committee meeting and Wednesday's annual freezing cold bath for MND.

After the fisting episode last game, the bar was raised with some straddling and choke holds, we normally have to pay extra for those I was told by one recipient. Marc fessed up to a headlock on Adam which he (Marc) considered worthy of a 50 meter penalty.

Other comments have included:

We probably need to get some WD40 for the old joints.

Special mention to Toby, clear Best on Ground. He was amazing.

Wills special effort in the ruck.

Statsman Steves lighting quick hands which lead to beautiful running goal for the shirts. (I had to include this one!)

Clare must have racked up 5.8km

Ally living up to her name with some bone crunching hits.

Glenn will need to be called the fisherman. Just loves the tackle.

Special Mention to Brent "Calves" Livy for keeping the game under control without leaving the middle of the ground

Nobody will ever know the score. Team discipline was much improved and the drinks after were the best of the weekend. That I can remember anyway!

Kellyville can have absolutely no idea what's in front of them.
